Transcript

Hello, and welcome to your TWEN introductory course. TWEN, or The West Education Network, is a course management system that will be utilized by a majority of your law school professors, as well as by student groups, including trial teams, moot court, and law review.

TWEN will allow you to collaborate and communicate efficiently, and will help improve and refine your Westlaw legal research skills.

This course will teach you how to access course materials, communicate, complete assignments, and collaborate with your colleagues, all using TWEN.

At the end of this course, you will be ready to integrate TWEN into all aspects of your law school experience.

To get started, take the pre-course survey. Then, review the Navigation instructions from your course home page.
