

Assessment

Introduction Transcript

Many law professors use TWEN to receive and return assignments to students. In this unit, you will learn how to submit assignments through TWEN for professor feedback. You will also learn how to take and submit quizzes within TWEN.

Diagnostic quizzes are those with which you are familiar; assessments containing multiple choice, true/false, fill in the blank, and similar questions. Law professors frequently use these for weekly reviews or periodic checks. Some final exams may be administered as diagnostic quizzes through TWEN as well.

Document quizzes are a unique feature of TWEN, allowing you to respond to questions within a document, be it a case, motion, brief, or memorandum. Let's get started reviewing these features.
